Dear Sue,

The videos arrived in time for members of our special education staff to review on our Professional Day, Monday, March 18th. Those of us who were able to view the tapes were impressed with the quality and potential benefit the staff and parents will be able to realize from both the tapes and the accompanying guides. We have already made a packet of the guides that include a glossary of terms, signs of problems and strategies for teachers and parents to try for each of the subject areas. One of our teachers described the Thinking with Numbers tape as "awesome".

Please convey my gratitude to the committee for acting so promptly and supporting this grant request. I will continue to provide you with information about the usefulness of this program and will let you know when the tapes are catalogued so they can circulate. You might be interested to know WGBH will be presenting a documentary entitled Misunderstood Minds on March 27th, which is part of the project that produced the Developing Minds series.

Once again, thank you for your interest and help.
